Relocation Specialists

Don't go it alone in a hot sales market! Work with professionals who can help.

Are you thinking about a condo or a single-family home? Would you prefer suburban or city living? Do you want new construction or an existing home? How much do you want to spend?

The answers to these questions will set the parameters for your home search. Your relocation specialist has the resources to help you find the best home in the best location based on your needs and preferences.

A Relocation Specialist:

- Knows which areas are "hot" and which areas are not
- Can find properties that are not currently advertised
- Knows where good schools are located and what you should know about commuting
- Helps you understand Wisconsin's unique real estate considerations, including regulations concerning buyer's agents, home inspections, counteroffers and the implications of being a "non-attorney" state, which streamlines the purchasing process

- Serves as your local point person during your home-purchase negotiations, arranges the necessary home inspections, and helps you to coordinate any repairs or updates that you want completed before you and your family move in to your new home

Moving to a new area should not be a stressful experience. Working with a professional familiar with the five-county Milwaukee metropolitan area can help you find the community you are looking for and let you focus on the details most important to you.

While the purchasing issues listed above are among the most important to know, there are other requirements that can impact your purchase, especially those established by local communities. Your real-estate professional can help you navigate these potential concerns to ensure that any surprises you encounter in your home-purchasing adventure are pleasant ones.

Welcome Home

Let me be the first – but far from the last – to welcome you to greater Milwaukee. Whether you are considering a move or have already relocated, I know you will find this city and region truly embody the essence of home.

More of what you want. Everything you need.

Throughout this guide and its website companion, discovermilwaukee.com, you'll learn about the incredible attractions and amenities that make this place vibrant and exciting. You'll also get all the information you need to make a smooth transition.

Milwaukee combines big city assets with a funky, small-town vibe. Attend a major concert with 20,000 fans one weekend and a jazz trio at an intimate setting the next. Cheer on the greatest team in the NBA, the Milwaukee Bucks, or play golf at a PGA championship course. Lake Michigan, with its miles of pristine shoreline, provides endless opportunities for recreation or just relaxing. And don't forget about beer: dozens of micro-breweries happily co-exist alongside the massive production of Miller and Coors products at homegrown powerhouse MolsonCoors. Quite literally, something good is always brewing in Milwaukee.

Here, you're in good company.

Milwaukee is home to such diverse headquarters as Harley-Davidson, Milwaukee Tool, Johnson Controls, ManpowerGroup, Kohl's Department Stores and the North American manufacturing center for HARIBO. Milwaukee ranks 4th in the nation for the number of Fortune 500 headquarters per capita. Meanwhile, our thriving startup scene is producing the next generation of innovative enterprises.

We've saved a place for you.

Milwaukee prides itself on being a place that welcomes all people. Where strangers quickly become friends. We celebrate our rich diversity and continually strive for equity. The life you want is here to enjoy. We're so glad you've joined us in livable, lovable Milwaukee.

Living Your Best Life in MKE

Milwaukee Living

There are a lot of factors that make the Milwaukee area such a special place to live and work. Following are some examples:

Space Abounds: Milwaukee is spread out. Despite having many big-city offerings, Milwaukee has a density about half that of Chicago, and less than a fourth that of New York. And with miles of lakefront beach and one of the largest urban park systems in the country, there is plenty for you to do outside.

A Perfect Location

Milwaukee is ideally located in the heart of the Upper Midwest/Great Lakes region of the United States. Situated on the western shores of Lake Michigan, one of the five Great Lakes, it is a 90-minute drive from downtown Chicago, a five-hour drive from Minneapolis-St. Paul and Indianapolis, and slightly more than an hour away from Madison, the capital of Wisconsin. Wisconsin's fabled Northwoods and Michigan's Upper Peninsula are just three hours away.

Easy & Accessible:

Milwaukee is easy to get around. The metro area boasts one of the best commute times in the country – 22 minutes each way. And if you don't feel like driving, the city is known for its walkable neighborhoods.

Affordable: If you're looking to buy a home, you will likely be surprised at how far your money will go. You'll also be pleasantly surprised at your dining and entertainment costs.

A Booming Downtown:

Milwaukee is being transformed by new developments, including the Deer District entertainment destination, apartment communities and office buildings.

Diverse Music:

Milwaukee offers a wide range of music with an opera company, symphony, venues of all sizes and the world's largest rock-n-roll music festival.

"With an affordable cost of living, great employment opportunities, family-friendly activities and a dining scene ... it's no wonder that Brew City is one of the best places to live in the U.S."

Enjoy the seasons in all their glory!

The Milwaukee Region offers four distinct seasons – summer, fall, winter and spring – each with its own unique beauty and recreational opportunities. Lake Michigan moderates temperatures along the lakeshore, making it slightly cooler in the summer and warmer in the winter. There are typically only seven days per year when the temperature is 90 degrees or higher. 313 days per year are above freezing (32 degrees), with an average winter temperature of 31 degrees.

The average daily temperature is 78 degrees in the summer, which is perfect for sailing on the lake, playing golf or attending one of the area's many outdoor festivals. July is the sunniest month, with 66 percent of the days bathed in sunshine.

Spring paints the landscape emerald green; fall is a kaleidoscope of colors as trees make way for winter. The average daily temperature in spring is 55 degrees; in the fall, it is 60 degrees. Winter brings about 47 inches of snow, just enough to turn the region into a winter wonderland and offer opportunities for skiing and snowmobiling.

Active, Outdoor Lifestyles

Wisconsin residents like to enjoy the outdoors, whether it is at gorgeous Lake Michigan beaches, exploring an abundance of inland lakes, along the Milwaukee River or in the state's legendary Northwoods. Milwaukee County boasts more than 15,000 acres of public parkland at 140 different county parks. In addition, southeastern Wisconsin boasts several state parks and trails that offer a range of hiking, biking, and swimming opportunities:

Havenwoods State Forest is Wisconsin's only urban state forest, featuring 237 acres of grasslands, woods and wetlands all within the city of Milwaukee.

Lakeshore State Park, located in the heart of downtown Milwaukee, provides a unique urban oasis with great views of the city and Lake Michigan.

The Hank Aaron State Trail, named in honor of baseball legend Hank Aaron, connects Milwaukee's American Family Field and the Lake Michigan lakefront.

Lapham Peak, the highest point in Waukesha County, provides excellent hiking, backpacking and cross-country skiing, and features a 45-foot observation tower.

Harrington Beach State Park is a 715-acre park with more than a mile of beach along Lake Michigan in northern Ozaukee County, near Belgium.

The Pike Lake Unit of the Kettle Moraine State Forest, located near Hartford, includes a 522-acre, spring-fed lake, and Powder Hill, a large glacial kame featuring great views.

Kettle Moraine Northern and Southern Units are comprised of more than 50,000 acres of glacial hills and lakes stretching across the southeastern side of the state.

Glacial Drumlin State Trail stretches for 52 miles through farmlands and glacial topography. The trail travels through 10 small towns from Cottage Grove to Waukesha.

The Mitchell Park Horticultural Conservatory consists of three conoidal domes - the only in the world. Built in the early 1960s, each dome features a different environment - arid, tropical and a "show dome" for seasonal displays.

Our History

(SHORT VERSION)

Native Americans were the first to realize the beauty of Milwaukee's location at the mouths of the Kinnickinnic, Menomonee and Milwaukee rivers. They called it "Milwaukie," which means "where the waters meet." Its natural harbor and lightly wooded bluffs made it a perfect location. By 1817, Milwaukee was already a cosmopolitan village with an estimated 300 people representing a variety of tribes, including the Sac, Fox, Chippewa, Ottawa, Winnebago, Menomonee and Potawatomi. They speared fish in the three rivers and grew wild rice in the grassy swamps where Milwaukee's downtown now stands.

One of the first known Europeans to visit the area was Jesuit missionary Father Jacques Marquette, who camped here in 1674. He was soon followed by fur trappers drawn to the area by its wealth of natural resources. Native Americans and fur trappers kept a cautious distance from each other, but from time to time indigenous peoples helped fight white men's wars, most notably the Revolutionary War and the War of 1812.

Germans were among the city's first immigrants, and they soon dominated the city. By 1850, one-third of the city's population was German and by the early 1900s, the city was referred to as the "German Athens of America." The city's South Side Polish population was the second largest ethnic group.

Milwaukee's first African-American church dates back to 1869, but the city's African-American community did not start growing rapidly until after World War I. The first Hispanics arrived in the early 1920s, when local tanneries recruited men from Mexican villages. Milwaukee's economy grew rapidly between 1940 and 1980, and its metropolitan population increased 59 percent, to 1.4 million people.

At the beginning of the 1980s, Milwaukee was one of the leading manufacturing cities in the country. Allis-Chalmers, Harnischfeger, Briggs & Stratton, Harley-Davidson, A. O. Smith, Allen-Bradley and Bucyrus-Erie had made the city famous. The local economy's dependence on manufacturing jobs left it vulnerable to the manufacturing recession of the late 1970s and early 1980s, when tens of thousands of people lost their jobs as factories closed or moved their operations out of the state.

Since then, Milwaukee has rebuilt its economy, this time with a diversified base and an increased emphasis on exports. It has also become a leader in the development of e-commerce and green technologies. This shift to service-based industries has offered some protection against severe swings in manufacturing cycles.

The area's annual unemployment rate has typically outperformed the national average for 20 years. For more information about our next-generation economy, please see Career Opportunities, which starts on page 18, or contact the Metropolitan Milwaukee Association of Commerce (mmac.org) and request a copy of the latest edition of Navigate Business MKE.

Beer Capital of the World

Only one city can claim to be "The Beer Capital of the World" and that city is Milwaukee. Once home to Miller, Schlitz, Pabst and Blatz breweries, to name a few, Milwaukee is now a leader in the ever-evolving art of craft brewing. Whether you opt for a tasting tour; relax at one of the area's ubiquitous beer gardens (be sure to visit "Milwaukee's Original Biergarten" at Old Heidelberg Park!); hop on the Beer Titans History bus tour; ride on the East Troy Beer Tasting Train; brew your own beer (check out beerbarons.org); imbibe in Athletic Brewing's active-lifestyle, non-alcoholic, lower-calorie alternative craft beer (athleticbrewing.com); join in the froth frenzy of Oktoberfest celebrations; take a class at Third Space Brewing's popular Beer School (thirdspacebrewing.com); or simply grab a cold pick-six to share at a tailgate or BBQ, Brew City is sure to serve up a "hoppy" experience! The region has so much to offer, we recommend you check out online guides like beerdadvocate.com or visitmilwaukee.org/beer-brewing to see what's on tap!

The Beer Baron Legacy

Beer is embedded deep in Milwaukee's history, architecture and culture. Captain Frederick Pabst built the ornate Pabst Theater, which has been heralded as the city's most elegant performance venue. The former Pabst brewing grounds have been transformed into a restaurant, boutique hotel, offices and residential space, while his former home, the Pabst Mansion (pabstmansion.com), now serves as a house museum, showcasing the home's craftsmanship, original furnishings, and fine arts collection. Holiday tours are especially memorable. Many of the city's beer barons – Frederick Pabst, Joseph Schlitz, Jacob Best and Valentin Blatz – were laid to rest at historic Forest Home Cemetery on the city's south side.

Celebrating Diversity & Our Ethnic Histories

Who are we? For starters, we're friendly. In fact, we were named one of America's friendliest cities by Travel & Leisure magazine. We're down-to-earth, hard-working and like to have fun. We thrive, because we are a diverse community that celebrates our past, present and future. Most Milwaukeeans are American by birth, they are proud of their cultural roots.

Once known as a "melting pot" that drew its strength from the varied immigrant groups who planted roots here hoping to find opportunity, peace and prosperity, Milwaukee can now be seen as a nexus that connects individuals from various backgrounds to create an urban environment made stronger through vibrant diversity. The metropolitan region is 66% White, 17% Black, 12% Hispanic/Latino and 4% Asian. Thirty-five percent of the total population identify as having German ancestry, 11% Polish, 10% Irish, 4% English and 4% Italian. Among the Hispanic population, 68% identify as having Mexican ancestry and 23% are of Puerto Rican descent. Among the Asian population, 28% are Hmong, 27% are Indian and 13% are Chinese.

Milwaukee embraces the distinct character of its various heritages by hosting a cavalcade of ethnic festivals throughout the year, bringing together the larger community to celebrate the unique contributions and traditions of each group. Larger festivals rotate through the lakefront Henry W. Maier Festival Park, including Polish Fest, German Fest, Mexican Fiesta and Irish Fest.

We are also a tolerant community. Milwaukee is home to a large, vibrant and active LGBTQ+ community that offers engagement, support resources, film festivals and social events, including PrideFest Milwaukee, an annual celebration held on Milwaukee's lakefront.

More than 120 companies are participating in the Metropolitan Milwaukee Association of Commerce's "Region of Choice Initiative" which is committed to significantly increasing the number of Black and Brown talent in management and overall employment.

Meeting & Getting to Know People

One challenge when moving to a new community is developing friendships – even in a very friendly city such as Milwaukee. Some good local resources for engaging in our vibrant social scene are meetup.com, milwaukeedowntown.com, socialxmke.com and FUEL Milwaukee (fuelmilwaukee.org), which connects young professionals within the region. Other great ways to meet folks are through Facebook groups, by volunteering (see volunteermatch.org or unitedwaygmwc.org/volunteer), signing up for a charity event or exercise class, joining a gym, visiting a dog park or going to community events. Public libraries are an excellent resource for finding out information about organizations and events in your community.

A Thriving Hub of Creativity

Milwaukee is a hub for the creative arts, which is one of the primary reasons National Geographic named it one of the top 25 global destinations in 2022. Oscar-winning screenwriter John Ridley founded Nō Studios, a collaborative work space and social community for artists that is located near the Deer District. Milwaukee Film hosts the annual Milwaukee Film Festival (April 20–May 4, 2023; mkefilm.org), which offers the best in independent and international film.

The Film, Video, Animation and New Genres program at University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee (UWM) is noted as one of Hollywood Reporter's "Top 25 American Film Schools" and Variety's "Best Film Schools." UWM's student-run Milwaukee Underground Film Festival, held in April, focuses on short films of 20 minutes or less.

The region is renowned for arts education across the spectrum. # Ideal for All Ages & Stages

The Milwaukee Region is an ideal place to start a career, raise a family or enjoy the freedom retirement brings

For Those Starting Out

An energetic, but walkable downtown teeming with new apartments, condominiums and restaurants makes Milwaukee a choice destination for young professionals. The city offers affordable housing, professional sports teams, rich cultural offerings, a vibrant music scene (including Summerfest, the world's largest music festival), and plenty of opportunities to enjoy the outdoors (including miles of beaches and a lakefront state park within walking distance of the downtown). The city's low unemployment rate, its rapidly developing technology clusters, and its premier colleges and universities make it a perfect place to start or grow a career.

VISIT Milwaukee

For Families

Excellent schools, a wide variety of safe communities and plenty of kid-friendly activities make Milwaukee a wonderful place to raise a family. In addition to having one of the nation's largest park systems, the Milwaukee Region has several attractions curated with kids (and kids at heart) in mind: Betty Brinn Children's Museum, Discovery World Science + Technology Center, Milwaukee Public Museum/Daniel M. Soref National Geographic Dome Theater & Planetarium, the Mitchell Park Domes, Milwaukee Art Museum, Boerner Botanical Gardens, Old World Wisconsin and the Milwaukee County Zoo. Wisconsin schools consistently rank among the better performing institutions in the nation and the area offers a variety of excellent religious and private schools as well.

For Retirees

Given its cold winters, Milwaukee scores surprisingly high as a preferred destination for retirees. One reason is the affordable cost of living. Home prices won't consume your life savings, dining out is not expensive, and you can even take college classes for free within the University of Wisconsin system (the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee campus, the second-largest in the state, is located just north of downtown Milwaukee). Then, of course, there are abundant indoor and outdoor activities – the symphony, theater and opera, as well as golf, tennis, and miles of hiking trails, rivers and lakeside beaches to explore. The list is endless. And who says you can't enjoy winter? You may not be up for the polar-bear plunge, but how about cross-country skiing or snowshoeing?

In addition to many online recruitment services, the state offers free services through the Wisconsin Department of Workforce Development, a state agency charged with delivering effective and inclusive services to meet the state's diverse workforce needs. It provides job services, training and employment assistance to people looking for work through its statewide network of Jobs Centers. For information, visit: jobcenterofwisconsin.com

Networking

The Milwaukee Region offers a variety of networking opportunities that can help you meet people. They include:

FUEL Milwaukee: A community-engagement program for young professionals and new Milwaukee residents, FUEL Milwaukee develops programming and events around networking and socializing, civic engagement and community building, leadership and development, and volunteerism. It hosts three to four events per month for its approximately 7,000 registered members. fuelmilwaukee.org

Technology, financial services and advanced manufacturing drive the economy

Milwaukee has been a center of commerce since the Potawatomi Indians first settled along the shores of the Menomonee River and Lake Michigan hundreds of years ago. The region's research facilities, educational institutions and manufacturing plants are now paving the way for new medical technologies, battery-powered cars, alternative power solutions, freshwater science and the "Internet of Things."

The seven-county Milwaukee Region flourishes with 50,000 businesses, 1 million employees and a gross economic product of $100 billion. It is fueled by a healthy balance of long-time manufacturing icons and next-generation companies. The metro region is home to 14 Fortune 1000 companies, which is high for a region its size.

There are many reasons why so many multi-national companies call the Milwaukee Region home, why entrepreneurs choose Milwaukee to set up shop, and why Forbes magazine has ranked Milwaukee one of the top ten communities for young professionals. It also has one of the nation's highest concentrations per capita of best companies to work for, according to the Great Places to Work Institute. The region promotes diversity. The Metropolitan Milwaukee Association of Commerce's Region of Choice initiative, for example, seeks to increase the minority talent employed at area companies.

Manufacturing remains an important engine for the region's economy. The region is a national leader in the production of industrial controls, steel foundry parts, engines and mining machinery. It also is a leader in the production of medical diagnostic equipment.

Service-providing jobs account for more than 80 percent of all nonfarm jobs in the area. Health care and social assistance, professional and business services, retail trade, hospitality and food services, and finance/insurance are among the largest service-sector segments in the region. Five Milwaukee-area service companies are ranked as Fortune 500 companies: ManpowerGroup, Northwestern Mutual, and WEC Energy Group (Milwaukee), Kohl's Corp. (Menomonee Falls) and Fiserv (Brookfield).

Schools for All Ages

Wisconsin public schools rank 13th in the nation overall

Schools: Public & Private

If there's one thing Wisconsin residents take pride in, it's their schools – and for good reason. At every level – primary, secondary and higher education – the state excels in academic achievement and offers its residents a wide range of educational opportunities – both public and private. In addition to the many nationally recognized public schools, the five-county southeastern Wisconsin region has hundreds of high-performing private and parochial schools, many of which have deep roots. Marquette University High School, for example, is more than 150 years old, St Johns Northwestern Military Academy was founded in 1884 and the University School of Milwaukee dates back to 1851.

Public School Excellence

Wisconsin schools have consistently been ranked among the best in the nation even though they spend less per pupil than most urban areas. In Milwaukee County, school districts are "unified," which means they include elementary, middle and high schools. In suburban counties, however, there can be separate school districts for elementary and high schools. In these situations, several elementary school districts will feed into a single high school district. Information about area public schools is provided on pages 40, 42 and 44. The state also publishes report cards for all public schools. For more information, please see page 38.

Strong Private Education

In addition to excellent public schools, the Milwaukee region is home to many privately run elementary and secondary schools. Many are church affiliated, such as Marquette University High School and Divine Savior Holy Angels, but several are not. University School of Milwaukee and University Lake School are not related, but both provide high quality education from pre-kindergarten through high school. University School is located on 123 acres in River Hills north of Milwaukee while University Lake School is located in Hartland west of Milwaukee.

Other preparatory schools (pre-kindergarten through high school) are Brookfield Academy, located near Brookfield Road and Capital Avenue in Brookfield; and The Prairie School, which is located in northern Racine County. Lake Country's non-denominational Christian Education Leadership Academy in Pewaukee serves students in 4K through 8th grade. Founded in 1884, St. John's Northwestern Academies is an independent, coeducational, college preparatory boarding and day school for grades 7-12. For detailed information on private schools, including tuition, please see pages 32-34.

Making Schools Accessible

There are several programs designed to help students attend private schools and to help high school students transition to college. Following are brief descriptions of some of the major programs that are available.

Private School Choice

Private School Choice Programs available to qualifying families include the Milwaukee Parental Choice Program, the Racine Parental Choice Program and the Wisconsin Parental Choice Program. Participating schools receive a state aid payment for each eligible student.

Eligibility requirements vary but are typically based on student residence, income and prior year attendance. There is also an age requirement that must be met for K4, K5, and first grade. For application information, visit dpi.wi.gov/sms/choice-programs/student-applications.

Special Needs Scholarships

The Special Needs Scholarship

Program (SNSP) allows a student with a disability, who meets certain eligibility requirements, to receive a state-funded scholarship to attend a private school in Wisconsin that participates in the program. The school receives a state aid payment for each eligible student. For

Higher Education

Southeastern Wisconsin also offers a wealth of higher education opportunities. The University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee has more than 24,000 stu-

PAROCHIAL SCHOOLS

The Milwaukee area boasts exceptional private schools, both parochial and non-parochial. Southeastern Wisconsin offers a multitude of parochial schools of various denominations that offer families a faith-centered, values-based education that embraces the whole individual – mind, body and spirit – while adhering to high academic standards.

Catholic Schools

For over 175 years, Catholic schools in the Archdiocese of Milwaukee have taught lifelong Christian values that enable students to become future leaders, faith-filled disciples and engaged citizens. In 85 elementary and 16 high schools throughout the 10-county area, Catholic school educators are rooted in the recognition that each student is a unique human being progressing through various stages of growth and development. Every day, nearly 27,000 students are encouraged to grow in mind, body and spirit – in safe, supportive environments.

To ensure that Catholic education is accessible and affordable to as many families as possible, the Archdiocese participates in three State of Wisconsin Parental School Choice programs. 73 Catholic schools serve over 12,000 students enrolled through these programs, enabling parents to exercise this faith-based, academic option for their children. Activities inside and outside the classroom guide students to embrace a life grounded in the Gospel and prayer, creating communities of love and service.

The fully accredited curriculum in Catholic schools adheres to all state and federal standards, with students exceeding the national average on standardized tests. In addition to individual schools, Seton Catholic Schools (setoncatholicschools.com), with 11 schools in Milwaukee County, and Siena Catholic Schools (sienacatholicschools.org), with six schools in Racine County, share resources to serve students from all faiths and backgrounds.

Lutheran Schools

Wisconsin has a large Lutheran population and two synods of The Lutheran Church — Missouri and Wisconsin Evangelical Lutheran — offer elementary and secondary education in southeastern Wisconsin. The South Wisconsin District of The Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod operates 52 elementary schools, 24 preschools/childcares, and six high schools, five of which are located in the metro area: Milwaukee Lutheran High School, Racine Lutheran High School, Lake Country Lutheran High School (Hartland), Living Word Lutheran School (Jackson), and Martin Luther High School (Greendale). The Wisconsin Evangelical Lutheran Synod (WELS) has four high schools in the area: Wisconsin Lutheran and Kingdom Prep (Wauwatosa), Shoreland (Somers) and Kettle Moraine (Jackson).

Wisconsin's public schools are noted for their excellence in education. Students consistently outperform the national averages for college testing, as well as math and reading proficiency in grade school and middle school. The state promotes excellence in education by offering parents flexibility in choosing the schools where their children attend.

Open Enrollment

Wisconsin's public school open enrollment allows parents to send their children to any public school district in the state, provided the school district they select has openings for open-enrollment students. The application period runs from early February through the end of April. Transportation is generally the responsibility of the parent. Parents can apply online directly from the Department of Public Instruction (DPI) website (dpi.wi.gov/open-enrollment) or by completing paper applications available from the DPI or public school district.

Parents normally apply for open enrollment for the following school year during the three-month application period. However, if parents miss that window, the state established a procedure by which parents may apply for open enrollment outside of the regular application period, called the Alternative Application.

Parents may submit applications to up to three nonresident school districts for each child during the open enrollment application period. Parents may apply for their children to attend 4-year-old kindergarten if the resident school district also offers a K4 program for which the child is eligible.

Most students who attended a nonresident school district under open enrollment last year are not required to reapply for the following school year. However, if the student will be entering middle school, junior high school, or high school, parents should call the school district to find out if they will be required to reapply freedom in their operation so that they can develop innovative programs and curricula that could improve education as a whole.

Wisconsin charter schools are non-religious, free to the public, and open to all children in the state. They are created through a contract, or "charter," between the school's operator and the authorizer, which is typically a school board, technical college or university. Examples of charter schools include the Downtown Montessori Academy in Milwaukee, the High School of Health Sciences in Waukesha and the Waukesha STEM Academy in Waukesha.

Charter schools are non-religious, free to the public and open to all children in the state. They are granted greater freedom to create innovative programs.

Although charter schools are exempt from many of the state laws and rules that govern public schools, they are required to have a licensed instructional staff, participate in the state student testing program and school report cards, and must comply with student health and safety regulations. For more information, call the DPI at (800) 441-4563 or visit dpi.wi.gov/sms/charter-schools.

Virtual charter schools provide all or a portion of their instruction through the internet. The students and instructional staff are typically located in different geographic areas. Like other charter schools, virtual schools are publicly funded, nonsectarian schools exempt from many regulations that apply to traditional public schools. Pupils typically attend from their homes and communicate with teachers using e-mail or online discussions.

Magnet & Specialty Schools

Specialty or magnet schools attract students from throughout the school district who are interested in a special curricular focus. In language-immersion schools, for example, students learn core

HOW SCHOOLS COMPARE

The Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction (DPI) produces report cards for every publicly funded school and district in the state as part of the state accountability system.

The report cards include data on multiple indicators for multiple years across four priority areas: Achievement, Growth, Target Group Outcomes, and On-track to Graduation. A school or district's overall accountability score places it into one of five accountability ratings:

Significantly Exceeds Expectations	83-100
Exceeds Expectations	70-82.9
Meets Expectations	58-69.9
Meets Few Expectations	48-57.9
Fails to Meet Expectations	&lt;47.9

The charts on these pages provide the accountability score for school districts. Ratings for individual schools within a district are available at <http://apps2.dpi.wi.gov/reportcards/> subjects in the target language, whether it be French, German, Spanish or something else. Other magnet schools focus on STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, and Math), the arts, and specific vocational or career paths.

Because magnet schools attract students from throughout the district, students must apply and meet specific academic and demographic criteria. Not all school districts have specialty schools. Visit the school district's website, or call the office, to see if there are magnet-school options within the district in which you are interested.

Dual Enrollment

A variety of programs allow high school students to be dually enrolled in high school and college to earn both high school and college credits. These programs can make college more affordable for families and introduce students to college-level coursework while they are still in high school.

Wisconsin currently offers courses through the Early College Credit Program and the Start College Now program. These programs allow high school students to take one or more courses at an institution of higher education for high school and/or college credit. For details, visit dpi.wi.gov/dual-enrollment.

Public School Listings

The information about public elementary and secondary schools found on the following pages was compiled from state records and information supplied by the schools. "NA" means specific information for that school was not available.

Please refer to the "Area Communities" section of Discover Milwaukee (Pages 61-75) to find the school district(s) serving specific communities.

- Accountability: District report card accountability scores indicate district performance based on 2021-2022 data (see sidebar at left for more information)
- Enrollment: Enrollment figures based on September 2022 data supplied by the school district. If multiple numbers listed, the first number is high school enrollment and the second number is district enrollment.
- Cost Per Student: Total costs per student based on 2020-2021 data provided by the state Department of Public Instruction; percentage indicates amount of total costs spent on student instruction
- Attend College, ACT Score and APT Pass Rate: Projections for students planning to attend college based on 2019-2020 information (first percentage is for four-year school, second percentage is for two-year school); average ACT score and percentage of students passing APT based on 2020-2021 information provided by the state
- Schools: The first number represents the number of elementary schools, second number represents the number of middle schools and third number represents the number of high schools in the district.

Home Schooling

Wisconsin allows a parent or guardian to provide a home-based private educational program for her or his child or children as part of the compulsory school attendance law. This option is commonly referred to as home schooling. Interest in home schooling has increased in recent years, especially during the Covid-19 pandemic.

In order to home school, the parent or guardian must complete Form PI-1206 and submit it to the state Department of Public Instruction every school year. State law requires home schooling to provide at least 875 hours of instruction each school year and a "sequentially progressive curriculum of fundamental instruction in reading, language arts, mathematics, social studies, science and health."

Home Schooling Resources

Detailed information about home schooling is available from two places: the Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction (dpi.wi.gov/sms/home-based) and the Wisconsin Parents Association (homeschooling-wpa.org).

Colleges & Universities

A rich heritage of higher education

Milwaukee Area Technical College

Wisconsin values education, and nowhere is this clearer than in its system of colleges and universities. More than 78,000 students are enrolled each year in the more than two dozen public and private four-year schools serving the region. These include nationally recognized universities, colleges, technical schools and specialty schools. ## University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee

The University of Wisconsin–Milwaukee (UWM) has an ambitious dual mission that's unique in Wisconsin. It serves as both a top-tier, public research university and an access institution that strives to provide students with equitable opportunities to earn a college degree. Nestled in a quiet neighborhood on Milwaukee's east side, UWM's main campus is just blocks from Lake Michigan, and additional campuses and facilities are spread across southeast Wisconsin. It's the state's second-largest university, home to 24,000-plus students. UWM students can choose from more than 200 academic programs, including Wisconsin's only schools of architecture, freshwater sciences and public health. UWM is a significant contributor to Wisconsin's workforce, and 74% of its 200,000 alumni still live in the state. It's one of only 146 United States institutions to earn the highest rating for research — often called R1 — in the prestigious Carnegie Classification of Institutions of Higher Education's latest review. UWM partners with some 3,000 businesses and nonprofits that offer students opportunities to engage with a wide variety of organizations that are transforming our region. It's one of the nation's top universities for community engagement as classified by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching. UWM also sponsors 15 NCAA Division I athletic teams, including Wisconsin's only Division I baseball program. uwm.edu

Two other four-year University of Wisconsin schools are located in the region. Nearly 12,000 students attend the University of Wisconsin-Whitewater in Walworth County. Noted for its top business school, it is home to Wisconsin's largest AACSB-accredited College of Business and Economics. Another 4,100 students attend the University of Wisconsin-Parkside. Located between Racine and Kenosha, it's known for its Signature

Programs, as well as its AACSB-accredited College of Business, Economics and Computing.

VISIT Milwaukee

Milwaukee County

Area Communities

Given the many wonderful options, choosing where to live may be the most difficult decision you will have to make. One of your primary considerations will likely be finding a home near where you or your partner will work. Fortunately, Milwaukee's average commute time is among the lowest in the country, which means it's possible to live anywhere in the metropolitan area and still be close to the urban amenities of downtown Milwaukee. The following pages contain descriptions of the five diverse counties in the metropolitan Milwaukee area. A detailed narrative about life in each county is followed by information and statistical data on every municipality, including population, median income, property tax rate, school district and recent home sales prices.

Where Sales Are “Hot”

While home sales have been strong throughout the greater metropolitan area, certain communities are experiencing an extremely active market, both in terms of the number of listings and the speed with which homes are sold.

In addition to Downtown Milwaukee, the Third Ward and the Fifth Ward, the communities with the most active home sales markets are Bay View, Mequon, Shorewood, Fox Point, Whitefish Bay, Wauwatosa, Oak Creek, DelafIELD, Cedarburg, Grafton, Sussex, Brookfield, Muskego and Mukwonago.

Milwaukee County

Urban Energy & Trendy Living

Milwaukee is a county of extremes. It is one of the state's smallest counties geographically – and its most populous. Its mood ranges from the hustle and bustle of Milwaukee's downtown to the rural quietness of River Hills, Hales Corners and Franklin. There is the nightlife revelry in the Deer District, and the quiet serenity of the 15,000-acre Milwaukee County park system, among the largest in the nation. There's the majestic fury of Lake Michigan on a blustery November day and the quiet gurgling of the Kinnickinnic River. There are stately lakefront mansions and modest bungalows. There really is something for everyone in Milwaukee County.

Milwaukee

Milwaukee is the hub of the metropolitan area. The 30th largest city in the nation, and fifth-largest city in the Midwest, it is known for its cleanliness, beauty and diverse population. It is a community with a big-city soul and a small-town heart. And because of Milwaukee's rich tapestry of ethnic heritages, there's a variety of neighborhoods from which to choose, each with its own distinctive flavor.

Downtown Living Downtown Milwaukee is one of the most exciting residential areas in the metropolitan region. The city's investment in an award-winning riverwalk along the Milwaukee River, coupled with a growing demand for urban professionals to be "near the action," has spawned a multitude of upscale apartment and condominium projects. These new homes are located throughout the downtown area – in the city's central business district; just north of downtown in Brewer's Hill, one of Milwaukee's oldest neighborhoods; in the Park East corridor near Fiserv Forum and the Deer District, home of the NBA Champion Milwaukee Bucks professional basketball team; and in the trendy Third Ward and Fifth Ward/Walker's Point areas south of downtown. Of these areas, the Third Ward is the most developed. Located in a former warehouse district, its brick buildings have become a magnet for boutique shops, unique eateries, professional offices, condominiums and apartment homes.

The East Side's unofficial boundaries run from the Milwaukee River east to Lake Michigan and from the city limits south to Ogden Avenue. One mile wide and three miles long, it's crammed with dozens of neighborhoods, scores of specialty stores and an extremely diverse population. It includes Prospect Avenue, where the city's first highrise condominiums and apartments were built, and the stately homes of Newberry Boulevard and Lake Drive. The steep grandeur of Lafayette Hill slopes down to the lakefront and beautiful Bradford Beach, touted as one of the best urban beaches in the nation. It's also the "hip" side of Milwaukee, and it is as exciting as it is complex. The more than 24,000 students who attend the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee keep the area energized. Just west of the Milwaukee River is Riverwest, one of the city's most ethnically diverse neighborhoods and home to a large artist population.

Milwaukee's West Side dates back to the days of Kilbourntown, when the city's movers and shakers – including the Plankintons, Mitchells, Pabsts and Brumders – built imposing mansions on what is now West Wisconsin Avenue. Story Hill is the oldest neighborhood in this area. Located just north of I-94 and east of Calvary Cemetery, the winding streets of this subdivision feature the highest concentration of brick, stone and stucco homes within the city.

North Side The original home of Milwaukee's German population, the North Side is now home to much of the city's African-American population. The Northwest Side boasts the greatest abundance of single-family homes in Milwaukee. Sherman Park, which is located east of Sherman Boulevard and north of North Avenue, is known for the beautiful brick and Lannon-stone homes that sit majestically on wide, quiet streets. Bungalows are also common in this ethnically diverse neighborhood. Lindsay Park is home to the blue-domed Annunciation Greek Orthodox Church, which is located at 92nd and Congress streets and is the last major project designed by Frank Lloyd Wright.

Bayview/VISIT Milwaukee

South Side Settled by Polish and Italian immigrants, the South Side is home to kielbasa and pierogies, church festivals and working-class families. Bay View is located on the South Side's eastern edge along the shores of Lake Michigan and south of the Hoan Bridge. Started in 1867 as a company town offering Puddlers' cottages for laborers at Milwaukee Iron Company, it remained an independent suburb for several decades before it was swept up by Milwaukee's march southward. To this day, it remains a staunchly independent community. In recent years, young professionals have flocked to Bay View, attracted by its community atmosphere and proximity to the downtown and Lake Michigan. South Kinnickinnic Avenue is the primary commercial street, but there are many eclectic specialty shops, bars and restaurants tucked along the side streets.

North Shore

Shorewood • Glendale • Whitefish Bay Fox Point • River Hills • Bayside

Nestled among large stately trees and bordering the shimmering Lake Michigan coastline are the North Shore suburbs of Shorewood, Glendale, Whitefish Bay, Fox Point and Bayside. Here you will find some of the nicest homes in Milwaukee County. There are the spacious homes of Milwaukee's founding business barons along Lake Drive, the secluded multi-acre estates of River Hills, and the brick and stucco homes near the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee campus. All of these communities are defined by water: Shorewood, Whitefish Bay, Fox Point and Bayside are located on Lake Michigan, while River Hills straddles the Milwaukee River.

Properties in these communities range from moderately priced to Residents can stroll through the quaint shops and restaurants located in the downtown areas of Shorewood and Whitefish Bay or relax in the peaceful solitude of Fox Point, Bayside and River Hills, which feature large, secluded lots.

Wauwatosa/VISIT Milwaukee: Nick Collura

Wauwatosa

West of Milwaukee lies Wauwatosa, a community of primarily professional workers blessed with a healthy mixture of high-end homes, office buildings, retail developments and the Milwaukee Regional Medical Center. One of the earliest settlements in the area, it is ideally situated at the center of the metropolitan area, providing convenient access to the downtown and suburbs. Wauwatosa has two distinct commercial districts – the quaint and historic downtown area located in the valley near N. 76th and W. State streets, which features specialty shops and restaurants; and Mayfair Road, which is lined with office buildings and is home to Mayfair Mall, Milwaukee's largest and most popular regional shopping center. The historic Washington Highlands has long been a sought-after residential location, but the city boasts many other charming subdivisions as well, all of which offer suburban living with close proximity to downtown Milwaukee.

West Allis/West Milwaukee

With a population of just under 60,000, West Allis ranks as one of the largest cities in Wisconsin. Once the home of the Allis-Chalmers farm equipment manufacturing empire, it has been a blue-collar town, but has witnessed a dramatic increase in home sales to young professionals. It is home to State Fair Park, which hosts the annual Wisconsin State Fair, and the Pettit National Ice Center, the site of Olympic training and time trials. The city also boasts the region's largest farmers market, which is held several times a week during the summer months on National Avenue, west of 66th Street. West Milwaukee is a small, formerly industrial area that has been transformed into a residential and commercial community along South 43rd Street near American Family Field, home of the Milwaukee Brewers professional baseball team.

Brown Deer

Think golf and you'll think of Brown Deer, which is located just north of Milwaukee and a short drive from downtown. The Milwaukee River and Brown Deer Park form the village's eastern border. A modern community located just west of the exclusive village of River Hills, it developed rapidly after World War II and is home to a diverse mix of professional families. It is also a golfer's haven, with no fewer than two country clubs and the Brown Deer Golf Course, ranked one of the best public golf courses in the nation and once a regular stop on the PGA tour. Its clubhouse is a designated historic site.

Southwest Suburbs

Franklin • Greendale Greenfield • Hales Corners

The southwestern suburbs of Franklin, Greendale, Greenfield

and Hales Corners offer both urban and rural living opportunities. They contain some of the county's busiest commercial districts and some of the most beautiful parkland in the county. Whitnall Park and the Root River Parkway, which cut through southwestern Milwaukee County, offer acres upon acres of green space for picnicking, bicycling and other types of family enjoyment. Whitnall is home to Boerner Botanical Gardens, Wehr Nature Center hiking trails and the Whitnall Park Golf Course. There is also The Rock Franklin, located at South 76th Street and West Rawson Avenue. The Rock offers a snow park featuring skiing, snowboarding and tubing; a sports complex; Franklin Field, home of the Milwaukee Milkmen independent professional baseball team; and the mixed-use entertainment destination Ballpark Commons. Franklin is one of the state's fastest-growing areas with residential developments springing up near Drexel, Puetz, Loomis, Rawson and Ryan roads.

Greendale, modeled after an English garden town, is one of three "Greenbelt" communities created by the federal government in the 1930s. Greenfield is one of the county's larger communities geographically and, as its name implies, contains many parks and recreational areas. The recently developed 84 South, located at Layton Avenue and South 84th Street, is a mix of apartments, offices, health care, fitness establishments, shops and restaurants.

Hales Corners, the smallest of the southwestern suburbs, is a quaint community with several residential subdivisions and commercial districts along Highway 100, Janesville Road and Forest Home Avenue near the Milwaukee-Waukesha county line.

South Shore

Cudahy • Oak Creek St. Francis • South Milwaukee

The South Shore includes the communities of Cudahy, Oak Creek, St. Francis and South Milwaukee. Oak Creek is the largest and fastest-growing South Shore community, spanning almost 29 square miles. Located on Lake Michigan in the southeastern corner of Milwaukee County, its motto is "Where City Meets the Country." It offers more than two dozen distinct neighborhoods, including Drexel Town Square, a development that includes restaurants, stores, offices, the Oak Creek Public Library, residential living, green space and trails. Lakeshore Commons, a major new development now under way, is creating 400 apartments and 300 single-family homes and townhouses. The old-world charm and lakefront location of St. Francis has spawned several condominium and apartment projects as well. Cudahy, a company town formed by the Cudahy Packing Company in 1896, is primarily a quiet, residential community with quick access to the airport and the interstate. South Milwaukee is one of the more populous South Shore communities, but retains a small-town flavor with a healthy mix of business and residential settings. It is also one of the older communities with roots that date back to the 1830s. Grant Park, one of the largest parks in the Milwaukee County Park System, is located along Lake Michigan at the eastern edge of the community.

Suburban Living Lake Country

Waukesha County, located just west of Milwaukee County, offers a perfect blend of urban and rural living. On its eastern edge are the populous – and prosperous – suburbs of Brookfield, Elm Grove, New Berlin, Menomonee Falls and Muskego. This is a rapidly growing area for upscale, residential subdivisions, with some of the wealthiest ZIP codes in the metropolitan area. Waukesha, the county seat, is a thriving community in its own right and one of the larger cities in the metropolitan area with a population of just under 72,000 people. Northwestern Waukesha County is known as "Lake Country" because of the dozens of sparkling lakes carved out by glaciers 15,000 years ago. This has long been a summer getaway for well-heeled Chicago and Milwaukee residents, but the area's scenic beauty has made it a popular location for year-round homes as well. Southern Waukesha County is equally appealing for its natural beauty, but it is much quieter and less travelled. The southern unit of the Kettle Moraine State Forest offers excellent hiking and mountain biking trails around lightly forested lakes, hills, prairies and ridges. Other attractions include the Vernon Marsh Wildlife Area, a 4,500-acre wetland area along the Fox River near Big Bend and Mukwonago, and Big Muskego Lake, located in the southeastern corner of the county.

Waukesha

Although Waukesha is just a half-hour drive from downtown Milwaukee, it often seems like it's a world away. Life is slightly slower here, although Waukesha does offer many big-city amenities, including the Waukesha Choral Union, the Wisconsin Philharmonic and the Waukesha Civic Theatre. Waukesha is one of the area's older cities. Its streets were built on the well-worn paths of early Indigenous American inhabitants who converged at a place called Five Points in the city's center. In the late 1800s, Waukesha's natural spring water transformed it into a resort town.

that attracted people from around the country, including Mrs. Abraham Lincoln and President Ulysses S. Grant. Many landmarks of that era remain, including the spring house located at "Five Points." Several recent developments along the Fox River in Waukesha, including a riverwalk, offer easy access to the historic downtown's shops and restaurants, as well as adjacent parks and Carroll University's beautiful campus.

Less than 4.5 miles square, the entire village has been designated as a bird sanctuary, which adds to its bucolic atmosphere. Surrounded by the cities of Brookfield and Wauwatosa and conveniently located in the center of the metropolitan area, Elm Grove boasts one of the area's highest median home values.

Ideally situated, Brookfield is located on the eastern edge of Waukesha County. It is a blend of beautiful, newer residences and established homesteads dating back to the early part of the 19th century. It is a large community, covering more than 27 square miles and has a population of just over 40,000, making it one of the largest and most-populous communities in Waukesha County. Brookfield is home to dozens of upscale subdivisions, amenity-heavy apartments and condominium projects. It also is a regional shopping and business center, highlighted by The Corners of Brookfield, an upscale shopping and entertainment destination.

Northern Waukesha County

Menomonee Falls • Lisbon Sussex • Butler • Lannon

Menomonee Falls, located in the northeastern corner of Waukesha County, was founded in 1843 by a German immigrant who noticed a series of tumbling rapids on the Menomonee River and realized the river's potential for power. The village boasts more than 2,000 acres of village and county parklands, and the beautiful countryside of Washington County and Waukesha's Lake Country are located just a few minutes away. It is also a hotbed of single-family residential development. The village of Lannon is probably best known for its quarries. They have provided the building materials for the region's iconic Lannon-stone homes. Other fast-growing communities in northern Waukesha County include Lisbon and Sussex, both of which feature a mix of residential

Delafield has taken on a decidedly historic theme, with several buildings designed in Williamsburg-style motifs. It also is home to St. John's Northwestern Academies, one of the oldest and most respected leadership schools in the nation.

Lake Country was once known as the "Newport of the West." Between 1870 and 1930, hundreds of Milwaukee, Chicago and St. Louis residents took the train to Oconomowoc to relax at the resorts or in one of the area's many palatial houses. Lake Road in Oconomowoc Lake used to be known as "President's Avenue" because so many of the country's leaders vacationed here, including Taft, Grant, Cleveland, Coolidge, McKinley and Teddy Roosevelt.

Hartland is located in the center of Waukesha County's Lake Country. Twelve major lakes are located within five miles of the village, which features a scenic downtown surrounded by homes dating back to the 1920s. Pewaukee is located on the northeastern edge of Pewaukee Lake, the largest lake in the area for sailing, waterskiing, boating and swimming. It also yields more fish per acre than any other lake in the state. Local and national sailing regattas are common throughout the summer. During the winter, the lake is speckled with ice-fishing shanties. Given the beauty of its natural surroundings and its central location in the metropolitan region, this area is home to many new subdivisions and business parks. Chenequa is a small, exclusive community that features expansive homes wrapped around the shores of prestigious Pine Lake.

A short drive away is the small community of Wind Lake, which is located where Hwy. Y (Racine Avenue) and U.S. 36 (Loomis Road) converge. ## Southwestern Waukesha County

Eagle • Mukwonago • Wales Vernon • North Prairie • Genesee

Southwestern Waukesha County is a rural wonderland where people enjoy nature. This region is becoming increasingly popular because of its beautiful scenery. It is home to the southern unit of the Kettle Moraine State Forest, but also has easy access to Milwaukee via I-43. There are several upscale residential developments located in the Eagle area, many of which have set aside significant acreage to protect wetlands and wildlife.

Mukwonago is the largest community in the area and is still growing rapidly. It is located on Phantom Lake and the Fox River, just southwest of the Vernon Marsh State Wildlife Area. It's also a short drive from Alpine Valley, the largest ski hill in southeastern Wisconsin and a popular outdoor music venue. Wales, located on the Ice Age Drumlin Trail, provides plenty of country living options.

Ozaukee County

Historic Villages & Suburban Energy

Located just to the north of Milwaukee County, Ozaukee is the second-smallest county in the state and the least-populated county in the metropolitan area; however, it is a virtual treasure chest of historical sites and stunning lakefront landscapes. Rated in 2021 by Niche as the best Wisconsin county in which to live, it is also one of the more rapidly developing counties in the area. Mequon and Thiensville have become prime locations for residential developments because of their proximity to Milwaukee. Ozaukee County is best known, however, for its many quaint towns, country inns, and octagonal barns.

Stretching vertically along the Lake Michigan shoreline north of Milwaukee, Ozaukee County has kept its rich commercial heritage alive. Cedarburg's Cedar Creek Settlement, a collection of 18 shops, boutiques and galleries housed in a restored woolen mill, is a major shopping attraction, drawing visitors from throughout the region. Port Washington, the county's first settlement, was once a major commercial fishing port and still boasts one of the area's finest marinas. It is also a major manufacturing center, with several business parks located on the city's west side.

Ozaukee County is rich in natural beauty. Harrington Beach State Park, located north of Port Washington, is one of the most scenic state parks in the state. The Ozaukee Interurban Trail is a converted 30-mile railroad right-of-way that is now used by walkers, joggers and cyclists. Whether you choose to live in Port Washington, historic Cedarburg or suburban Mequon, you'll enjoy the pace of life in Ozaukee County.

Mequon/Thiensville

Mequon and Thiensville are the urban communities of Ozaukee County, accounting for nearly one-third of the county's population. The Milwaukee River meanders lazily through the two communities, which are located at the southern edge of the county. Mequon's beautiful scenery and rural location have made it one of the most affluent and rapidly growing suburbs in the area. It boasts majestic lakeshore bluffs, stately homes, numerous golf courses and easy access to the interstate. Many of Wisconsin's professional athletes have homes in this area, as does Concordia University, a four-year liberal arts school. Thiensville is a smaller community that dates back to the turn of the 20th century. It was slowly surrounded by Mequon as that city began to blossom in the 1950s.

Cedarburg/Grafton

Cedarburg is a picturesque town of specialty shops, antique stores and intimate restaurants. Its thriving downtown is listed on the National Register of Historic Places and features buildings dating back to the 1800s. The city's residential base is a mixture of older, stately homes and modern subdivisions. Since 1960, the community's population has more than doubled. Grafton, its neighbor to the east, is also an historic village. It was established in the early 1840s to take advantage of the Milwaukee River and has been a center of commerce ever since. Because of its location near I-43, Grafton continues to experience significant industrial and commercial development. Ten miles north of Grafton and Cedarburg is the Ozaukee County Pioneer Village, a living museum of 24 buildings and structures that were constructed between 1840 and 1907, including furnished homes, barns and outbuildings.

campsites, picnic areas, hiking paths and cross-country skiing trails for outdoor enthusiasts of all types.

Port Washington, the county seat, is the largest community in northern Ozaukee County. Once one of Lake Michigan's major commercial fishing ports, the city still resembles a small fishing village. Besides being home to many charter boat captains, Port Washington offers residents a publicly owned marina and provides them with the only Lake Michigan-based water supply in the county. Because of the community's age – it was the county's first settlement – the city offers a wide variety of housing, from homes built in the mid-1800s to modern homes in spacious subdivisions.

Saukville is a small community located just northwest of Port Washington along Wisconsin's Ethnic Settlement Trail. Its quaint downtown, business park and proximity to woodlands and water have made it an attractive location for those who love the outdoors.

Riveredge Nature Center, located in the northwestern corner of the county, is a peaceful 351-acre state natural area and sanctuary with cross-country skiing, hiking trails and an outdoor learning laboratory. Also located in the northernmost regions of Ozaukee County are the small rural communities of Fredonia and Belgium. Fredonia claims to be the birthplace of Flag Day and is home to the National Flag Day Foundation. Belgium is located off I-43 just west of Harrington Beach State Park, where the village's founders, immigrants from Luxembourg, worked in the quarries.

Washington County

Gateway to the Kettle Moraine

Steeped in history and anchored in nature, Washington County has a distinctively rural feel. The county's population totals just over 137,000 and is growing rapidly. Located northwest of Milwaukee, Washington County is home to some of the most beautiful lakes, hills and natural formations ever carved out by thousand-ton slabs of ice. It was here that the rims of two glaciers – Michigan and Green Bay – collided, creating a huge ridge that extends some 120 miles from southeastern Wisconsin north to Lake Winnebago. This created some of the most beautiful topography in Wisconsin. Washington County boasts more than 50 lakes and five rivers. It is home to portions of the Ice Age Trail, several units of the Kettle Moraine State Forest and Pike Lake State Park, which features Powder Hill, a 1,350-foot-high kame that was formed when the glaciers began to melt. It also is the home of the Basilica of the National Shrine of Mary, Help of Christians at Holy Hill, which attracts thousands of pilgrims each year who come to pray for good health at this beautiful setting high atop a hill overlooking the countryside.

Germantown

Germantown is a residential community located just northwest of Milwaukee. It is one of the largest villages in the state, covering 34 square miles. It has also been one of the faster-growing communities in the state. Founded in 1838 by Germans who were attracted to the heavily wooded areas, the village still treasures its European heritage. In May, village residents gather for a German Maifest celebration. Germantown has a diversified economy that

It is home to the Museum of Wisconsin Art, which features the works of Wisconsin artists, and the Kettle Moraine Symphony. West Bend also hosts the Washington County Fair. Kewaskum is named after a famous Potawatomi Indian chief. Nestled along the Milwaukee River at the northwestern corner of Washington County, it is known today as the "Gateway to the Kettle Moraine State Forest." With more than 27,000 acres of beautiful hills, winding trails and sparkling lakes, the northern unit of the state forest attracts thousands of people who are interested in swimming, camping, hiking, horseback riding, skiing, hunting, fishing and studying nature. Just outside Kewaskum is the Ice Age National Scenic Trail, a 1,000-mile, east-west footpath that winds through some of the state's most picturesque landscapes. Just south of Kewaskum, visitors and residents can ski the slopes of the Sunburst Ski Area, home of the "World's Largest Tubing Hill."

Hartford is a community seemingly lost in time. Tucked in the rolling hills of the Kettle Moraine, it features a late 19th-century main street where shoppers can find an amazing assortment of handcrafted items, antiques and fine Wisconsin cheeses. Hartford is home to Erin Hills, a public golf course that hosted the 2017 U.S. Open and is slated to host the 2022 U.S. Mid-Amateur Championship; the Schauer Arts Center, a regional center for the arts that presents professional touring performances, exhibits regional artwork, and houses the community's band, chorus and theater troupe, as well as the Kettle Moraine Fine Arts Guild; and the Wisconsin Automotive Museum, which features more than 115+ vintage autos and artifacts.

Slinger is known for skiing and racing. Slinger Speedway, located at the intersection of highways 144 and 41, features late-model stock cars on the world's fastest quarter-mile oval. It recently hosted one of the races for the Superstar Racing Experience (SRX) series which was televised nationally. Slinger is also home to Little Switzerland, which touts 18 trails and three terrain parks.

Jackson is a small village of just over 7,000 that's noted for its big bargains. Every spring its residents host what is arguably one of the largest community-wide rummage sales in the metropolitan area. Located 25 miles northwest of Milwaukee and seven miles south of West Bend, Jackson is one of the fastest-growing communities in Washington County. Richfield is a village of nearly 12,000 residents near the intersection of U.S. 45 and U.S. 41. Probably best known for the Cabela's outfitter store located there, Richfield has numerous natural attractions as well, including more than a dozen lakes, golf courses and numerous parks.

Racine County

A New Engine of Economic Growth

Racine County has something to offer everyone – from luxury condominiums overlooking a modern marina, to a quiet lake lot reminiscent of Scandinavia. It is home to family-run dairy farms and major national corporations, including CNH Industrial, Modine Manufacturing and SC Johnson. It's also the home of Foxconn's research and manufacturing campus. There's a lot of history here – along the many rustic country roads first trod by buffalo, in the Victorian homes of Burlington, and at Frank Lloyd Wright's Wingspread Conference Center in Wind Point, a National Historic Landmark. The first electric refrigerator was built in Racine and telling tall tales first became an art form in Burlington. Racine County is an outdoor lover's paradise. In addition to the fishing opportunities offered by Lake Michigan, the county has established nearly 120 miles of bike trails on lightly traveled roads. There are also four off-road trails that connect with trails in Milwaukee and Kenosha counties. Quarry Lake Park is considered a scuba diver's dream, while the 80-acre River Bend Nature Center offers hiking, birdwatching, nature studies and canoeing. The Racine Zoo is located on 32 acres of Lake Michigan shoreline. The arts have strong roots in Racine County. The Racine Symphony Orchestra is the state's oldest continuous orchestra, while Burlington's Malt House Theatre, home of the Haylofters troupe, is the oldest community theater. Art lovers will want to explore the Racine Art Museum and Charles A. Wustum Museum of Fine Arts.

Racine

An economic center of its own, Racine developed independently – and sometimes in competition with – the early industrial centers of Milwaukee and Chicago. Today it is home to several prominent companies, including SC Johnson, CNH Industrial and Modine Manufacturing. Few Lake Michigan communities have capitalized on their location as well as Racine. North Beach, located just north of the downtown, offers swimmers, joggers and sun worshippers more than one mile of clean, sandy beach. Racine's Reefpoint

The upscale area has long been a preferred residential area for many of Racine's civic leaders. Located here is Wingspread. Located southwest of Racine along Highway 11 (Durand Avenue), these communities boast relaxed living and easy access to the urban comforts of Racine, Milwaukee and northern Illinois. Mount Pleasant is the largest of the three communities, covering much of the land between I-94 and Racine. Mount Pleasant is the second-most populous community in the county. Sturtevant is a village surrounded by Mount Pleasant that is the home of InSinkErator and also a stopping point for Amtrak, which makes it an easy commute to either Chicago or Milwaukee. Elmwood Park is a small, upscale community located just southwest of Racine.

Caledonia/Raymond

Located at the northern end of Racine County, the villages of Caledonia and Raymond offer a rural setting that is midway between Racine and Milwaukee. Caledonia is one of the largest villages in the state with just over 25,000 residents. Covering all of eastern Racine County between Racine and the Milwaukee County line, it is a rapidly developing area because of its proximity to Milwaukee and the interstate. Raymond, the site of much recent development, is conveniently located west of I-94 between Highway K and the Milwaukee County line. It is home to the bustling 7 Mile Fair, a year-round event that is promoted as the "granddaddy of flea markets" and offers a plethora of items from farm-fresh produce to home and garden decor to hobby items.

Burlington

This fun-loving city has an international reputation – if you can trust anyone who tells you about it! The city, home of the Burlington Liars Club, has been "Fibbing for Fun and Folly" for over 90 years. Every New Year's Eve, the club bestows upon one person the dubious honor of being the tallest-tale teller, with the famous Fibber McGee taking the prize in 1935. Truth be told, Burlington has a lot to offer. Located at the junction of the White and Fox rivers, historic Burlington has long been a crossroads of commerce. It is the Midwest home of Nestlé USA and celebrates all things chocolate, as evidenced by the local Chocolate Experience Museum and eponymous candy store. Burlington is close to Lake Geneva, a popular resort town on the shores of the spring-fed Geneva Lake with its palatial shoreline estates.

Financing Your Home

Local lenders offer service, options

Given the competitive nature of the mortgage business, banks and other lending institutions offer a variety of products that have made home buying simpler. Mortgages come with either fixed or variable interest rates. Fixed rates are typically one or two percentage points higher than variable rates, but the rate remains constant throughout the life of the loan. They are best when interest rates are stable or for homeowners who plan to live in their home for a long time. Variable- or adjustable-rate mortgages (ARMs) increase and decrease with the prevailing interest rates. Variable-rate mortgages are best when interest rates are changing rapidly or for homeowners who expect rates to decline in the next few years, plan to stay in their home for five years or less, or are confident their income will increase in the years ahead. In order to protect homeowners, variable rate loans have "caps" that limit how much the interest rate can increase over time.

Buying a Home

Many lenders have online worksheets to help you determine how much house you can afford. Generally speaking, house payments – including insurance and property taxes – should not exceed 28 percent of household gross monthly income (income before taxes). Total household debt (including credit cards, mortgage, auto and other loans) should not exceed 36 percent of monthly income. Homeowners who can't make a down payment equal to 20 percent of the sales price will likely have to purchase private mortgage insurance, which can add $50 to more than $200 to the monthly payment. Buyers should consult a Realtor or mortgage banker to determine what they can afford.

Local Lenders

Milwaukee has many local lenders who know the Milwaukee market and can provide valuable assistance with a mortgage, including Equitable Bank, Summit Credit Union and Waukesha State Bank.

There are many benefits to selecting local lenders. They know and understand the local market and can provide advice if they think a seller's price is too high. Sellers and listing agents like working with local lenders because they know each other. Finally, selecting a local lender is a great way to start a banking relationship for people moving to the area.

Prequalification

In the past few years, the Milwaukee market has been very active. Affordable prices and increased demand for housing have significantly shortened the time homes are on the market. In fact, it is not unusual for homes to have two or three offers – at asking price or higher – on the first day that they are officially listed on the market. As a result, potential buyers need to make sure they have everything ready to go when they enter the market.

One of the best ways to prepare is to get pre-qualified by a lender. The lender will review all of your financial records and certify that it will give you up to a specified amount for a mortgage. Having that in hand when you make your offer can ease seller concerns over financing.

Mortgages

Mortgages are available through mortgage brokers, banks, credit unions and savings banks. Whether you elect to work directly with a lender or through a mortgage broker, it is a good idea to get "pre-qualified." This will help you definitively ascertain how much you can afford. It will give you a competitive advantage with sellers, because you can present them with a document demonstrating that you will be able to pay the amount they are asking.

Fixed-Rate

Fixed-rate mortgages feature an interest rate that stays constant throughout the life of the loan, which typically range in length from 10 years to 30 years.

Adjustable-Rate

With an adjustable-rate mortgage (ARM), the interest rate changes periodically. They are typically characterized by the amount of time that must pass before the rate can be changed (1, 3, 5, 7 or 10 years, for example). Rates are generally lower than fixed-rate mortgages, but ARMs carry the risk that an increase in interest rates will lead to higher monthly payments.

FHA-Insured Loans

offers several low-down-payment mortgage products for eligible participants. FHA-insured loans are available from most lenders who offer conventional loans. For information and eligibility requirements, contact your lender or visit: hud.gov/fha.

VA-Guaranteed Loans

If you are a veteran of military service, reservist, or on active military duty, you may qualify for a loan guarantee from the Department of Veterans Affairs. These loans have low down payments.

Home Inspections

Lenders may require that you have your prospective home inspected by a professional before they approve your mortgage. Even if they don't, hiring an inspector is a good way to protect your investment. They may uncover structural, electrical or plumbing problems that could impact the sales price problems. But a thorough inspection can be beneficial in other ways. The final report can be a blueprint for things the buyer should be thinking about five or more years down the road, such as installing a new roof, furnace or water heater. Home inspections, which typically cost between $300 and $600, can reveal structural problems that may impact the selling price and your interest in the home. Home inspectors are licensed by the state. Under Wisconsin law, building inspectors are liable for damages that arise from an act or omission relating to their inspection. In addition, they are prohibited from performing any repairs, maintenance or improvements on the inspected property for at least two years after the inspection has occurred. For more information about regulations or to check the status of an inspector's license, call (608) 266-2112 or search for "home inspections" at dps.wi.gov.

Common Financial Terms

- APR (Annual Percentage Rate): Because it includes points, expenses and other costs charged by the lender, this is the actual interest rate you will be paying. Since all lenders must calculate this figure the same way, the APR provides an excellent method for comparing mortgage proposals.

- Appraisal: An estimate of the property's market value based on the condition of the structure, the value of the land and the neighborhood. Appraisals are usually needed whenever a home is bought, sold or refinanced.

- Assumable Loan: A mortgage that can be taken over by the buyer for a fee. These mortgages avoid closing costs and loan fees.

- Closing Costs: Payments made on closing day to cover attorney fees, appraisals, credit reports, escrow fees, prepaid insurance premiums and other fees

- Common Area Assessments: Also known as homeowner association fees, these are charges paid by unit owners to maintain the property

- Down Payment: The amount of cash paid by the homeowner at the time of closing. Any down payment that is less than 20 percent of the purchase price usually requires mortgage insurance, which increases the buyer's monthly payments.

- Escalator Clause: A provision that allows the lender to change the interest rates or the amount of the loan if market conditions change

- Fixed-Rate Mortgage: A loan with a fixed interest rate that remains constant over the life of the loan

- Home Warranty: Insurance purchased by the seller that covers the cost of repairing major appliances, such as the furnace and water heater, if they fail within a year of the purchase date

- Interest-Only Mortgage: A loan in which the mortgage holder makes payment only on the interest

- Joint Tenancy: A type of ownership that allows two or more parties to own a parcel of property together. In the event of one joint tenant's death, ownership of the property automatically passes to the surviving joint tenant(s).

- Loan-to-Value Ratio: The percentage of a property's value that can be lent to a borrower. Typically, financial institutions will not lend more than 80 percent.

- Mechanics Lien: A lien against the title of a property for work done on a house. Courts impose liens for non-payment of home-related services and must be satisfied at the time a home is sold.

- PITI: An acronym that stands for "principal, interest, taxes and insurance." This is the total monthly payment owed to the lender. It includes payment on the principal and interest, as well as money escrowed for insurance and taxes.

- Points: Interest that is paid in advance of the loan. A point is equal to one percent of the loan value. Three points on a $100,000 mortgage is equal to $3,000. Paying points lowers the monthly payments.

- Private Mortgage Insurance (PMI): Insurance that protects the lender in the event the homeowner defaults on the mortgage. It is typically required when the down payment is less than 20 percent of the home's cost but can vary by lender.

- Title: A document that indicates a buyer has clear ownership of a property. In order to protect themselves, lenders typically will not issue loans without this document.

- Title Insurance: Insurance that protects the homeowner and the lender in the event there is an ownership dispute

- Variable-Rate Mortgage: A mortgage in which the interest rate is adjusted to reflect market conditions. Variable-rate mortgages feature interest rates lower than fixed-rate mortgages, but the rate can change quickly. They typically have caps that prevent the rate from exceeding a fixed amount.

It's Time to Design Your Dream

Building Your Home

Southeast Wisconsin is an excellent place to build your dream home. The natural beauty of the area has lent itself to several carefully developed subdivisions that have been designed to complement existing trees, streams and other natural resources, as well as "carbon-neutral" subdivisions that feature homes equipped with solar panels to generate electricity.

New homes can be completed in as little as four to six months, with prices ranging from $300,000 to more than $1 million, depending on what you want your dream home to be. You can choose to start from scratch – choosing your own lot and then hiring an architect and/or builder to construct a home to your specifications. This is the most expensive, but potentially the most rewarding, approach.

You also can buy home-and-lot packages, which are generally more affordable, because you're purchasing the land and the house from a single source. There are additional options here. You can choose to build from the ground up, selecting from several different floorplans provided by the builder and then choosing your own finishes. You can purchase a completed "spec" home that has already been built. Or you can choose a partially built spec home that is already framed and is ready for you to choose the interior finishes. Finally, you can build a stand-alone home that is actually a condominium – giving you all the benefits of a single-family home but without all of the tasks of lawn cutting and snow shoveling.

The Benefits of Building

The biggest advantage to building is that you can get exactly what you want. Another advantage is that everything will be new, with the latest energy-efficient technology and features. This is especially true for heating and cooling systems, water heaters, appliances, lighting, windows and skylights. You can be environmentally sustainable and save money on utility costs from the get-go, and you won't have to worry about making costly replacements soon after you move in. You can also install green technologies such as electric car-charging stations and solar panels, or prep the house so they will be less costly to install at a later date.

Modern layouts are also more conducive to current lifestyles as opposed to the way we lived a decade or two ago. Wider garages, for example, can more easily accommodate the lawn tools, bicycles, kayaks, snowmobiles, skis and other "toys" you will want to enjoy Wisconsin's outdoors.

Finally, you can landscape your property just the way you want it, with a patio, outdoor entertainment area, shrubs and trees exactly how and where you want them.

Questions to Ask Your Builder

Following are questions recommended by the National Association of Homebuilders:

- Will the builder give you references of recent buyers/occupants?
- Does the builder have a financing plan established?
- Are there floor plan options – for example, can a basement or deck be added?
- Can a room such as the basement be left unfinished?
- How much "customizing" can be done versus standard features?
- Can appliances be up- or down-graded?
- Are there any additional fees relating to the home or development?
- Will there be a homeowners' association? If so, how much are the dues?
- Does the builder offer a warranty program?
- Does the price include landscaping?

Technology

Technology is a double-edged sword. While advances in wireless devices have eliminated the need to cable houses, the ease of installation opens up a host of new opportunities and questions concerning sound systems, security, as well as internet-enabled control of your lighting, heating/cooling and appliances.

Professional Design Help

Some people shy away from home building because of the many choices involved. Selecting interior finishes, appliances, light fixtures and even door handles can seem to be overwhelming. Fortunately, many homebuilders have made the selection process easier by offering packages that provide different looks using complementary colors, fixtures and hardware that can be modified by the homeowner. Many homebuilders also offer design services with a professional who will work with you to develop a look that fits your personality and budget.

Choosing a Homebuilder

Whether you are buying a condo, a townhouse, or building a house, you want to know that you are buying a good quality home from a reputable builder. This can be done by asking friends and colleagues or by contacting the Metropolitan Builders Association, (mbaonline.org), an organization that represents approximately 800 companies in the region.

Colleagues and online searches can provide you with a list of active homebuilders and the price ranges of the homes they build. Visit recently built homes and subdivisions. Drive by on a Saturday morning when homeowners may be outside doing chores or errands.

Introduce yourself and say you are considering buying a home from the builder who built their home. Talk to several owners. The more people you talk with, the more accurate an impression of a builder you will get.

Purchasing Land

If you do decide to buy a lot on your own, understand that lot prices vary considerably between communities and subdivisions. Legal descriptions of lots are either "lot & block" or "mete & bounds." Lot & block parcels are the most frequently used legal description, especially within subdivisions. They state the actual lot dimensions and reference a certified survey that is kept on file at the local county courthouse.

Mete & bounds parcels are often used to describe isolated or scattered lots. If the seller uses a mete & bounds legal description, you should have your property surveyed to verify its actual boundaries.

Special Considerations

There are several issues you need to consider when choosing a lot. Due to the size of the investment you will be making and the risks involved, you should seek legal assistance and/or consult with the local building inspector before you buy. Some of the things you should consider are:

- Deed Restrictions: Ask the seller for a copy of the deed so you can review any restrictions or "covenants" that may affect the land you are buying. Some subdivisions, for instance, limit the building materials you can use to build your home, specify how your home must be placed on your lot and may require a third party to approve your home's design. They may even prohibit you from leaving cars in the driveway. Once you have signed the deed, you are legally obligated to adhere to its restrictions.
- Drainage: Any purchase offer should be contingent on the parcel not being located in a floodplain and you should double check with the city engineer or building inspector. In addition, you will want to know how the lot drains and whether it is a catch basin or run off from other lots. The county surveyor's office should have topographical maps to identify drainage patterns.
- Electricity/Gas: Check with the local utilities about availability and hookup costs.
- Fill: Check with the building inspector to find out what your first-floor grade elevation will be and to determine how much fill you will have to buy or cart away from the site.

- Garbage: Find out whether garbage collection is included in your property taxes as a municipal service or if you will have to contract with a private company.
- Sewer/Septic: If you need a septic system, make sure the lot has a recent – and acceptable – percolation and soil test. Clay soil is prevalent in Wisconsin and can interfere with drainage. If you have poor soil, you may have to install a mound-type septic system. If you have metro or storm sewer service, find out how much the lateral hookups will cost.
- Water: Check to see whether you will need a well or will have to hook up to a community well or municipal water utility. If you have to drill a well, ask about unusual mineral content in the water. If you have a community well, ask your neighbors how it is working. If you have municipal water, find out the connection costs.
- Impact Fees: In an effort to control development, some communities have implemented "impact fees" that are assessed to new homes when they are built. These fees can range from $500 to more than $5,000 and are typically used to offset the cost of expanding schools and the community infrastructure to accommodate new developments. Check to see whether an impact fee has been imposed or is being considered in the community where you plan to build.

Medical College of Wisconsin

A Leader in Research & Medical Education

The Milwaukee Region is a leader in medical research and education. The Medical College of Wisconsin (MCW), which has locations in the Milwaukee Regional Medical Center, Green Bay and Central Wisconsin, is a private medical school, pharmacy school and major national research center that offers graduate degrees in medical, pharmacy and biomedical sciences. More than 1,600 physicians provide care in virtually every specialty of medicine for more than 2.8 million patients annually. With a history dating back to 1893, MCW is the largest research institution in the Milwaukee metro area and second largest in Wisconsin.

MCW faculty direct or collaborate on more than 3,100 research studies annually, including clinical trials. In the last ten years, faculty members received more than $1.5 billion in external support for research, teaching, training and related purposes. Its Office of Technology Development oversees patenting, marketing and licensing of new medical technologies, and its Clinical and Translational Science Institute is a collaboration with the Milwaukee School of Engineering and other schools to solve medical engineering challenges. The Medical College also collaborates with Marquette University to provide education and research in biomedical engineering, orthopedic rehabilitation and stroke rehabilitation. Marquette also serves as the region's dental school.

The University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee (UWM)

also plays a crucial role in medical research and education. Its UWM Partners for Health is an interdisciplinary collaboration between its nursing, public health, health sciences and social welfare programs. It conducts innovative research in multiple areas, such as biosciences and aging, and seeks ways to improve the lives of people with physical and mental health issues. UWM has the state's largest nursing program, and U.S. News & World Report ranks its doctor of nursing program 61st in the nation, its bachelor of science in nursing program 76th, and its master's program 91st. UWM also awards graduate degrees in public health, health care administration and informatics, and it's home to Wisconsin's only nationally accredited school of public health. The Versiti Blood Center of Wisconsin and its affiliate, the Blood Research Institute, play major roles in research regarding immunobiology, transfusion medicine and stem-cell biology. Its Glycomics Center focuses on the structures of complex carbohydrates and played an integral role in the creation of the National Marrow Donor Program.

Things to Know When You Move

Checking the Boxes

Unless you're carefully organized, moving can disintegrate into a nightmare of seemingly endless, last-minute headaches. There's always something that's forgotten in the rush, and that something can often consume a lot of time when trying to fix it from far away. The key to avoiding these hassles is to make a list of the things that have to be done and then accomplish those tasks using a steady and determined approach.

Utilities

Utilities are an important consideration in any move. Because there are several options for telephone service, internet and home-heating solutions, be sure to consider all of the alternatives before you make a selection. Also remember that utility connections can take anywhere from one week to one month to complete from the time you place the order.

Electricity/ Natural Gas

We Energies serves more than 1.1 million electric customers and 1.1 million natural gas customers in Wisconsin, including all of southeast Wisconsin; and nearly 400 steam customers in downtown Milwaukee. For utility connection information, call 800-242-9137 (24 hours a day) or click "Moving" at we-energies.com. We Energies is the trade name of Wisconsin Electric Power Co. and Wisconsin Gas LLC, utility subsidiaries of WEC Energy Group Inc.

Cable, Internet & Telephone

There are many options for local telephone service, including landline, wireless and cable. For most communities in southeastern Wisconsin, the local landline exchange carrier is AT&T Wisconsin (Telephone: 800-288-2020; Website: att.com/local/wisconsin). Smaller telephone companies serve the rural areas of southeastern Wisconsin. TDS Telecom (Telephone: 888-233-0001; Website: tdstelcom.com) serves rural Racine County; and CenturyLink (Telephone: 855-263-9576; Website: centurylink.com/local/wi) serves Mukwonago, North Prairie and other areas of southwestern Waukesha County. Cable telephone services are available in most areas of the five-county region through Spectrum, formerly Time-Warner Cable (855-366-7132; Website: spectrum.com/services/wisconsin).

About Driving

The Wisconsin Department of Transportation is in charge of driving regulations in the state of Wisconsin. Municipalities have regulations regarding local parking.

Driver Licenses & Vehicle Registration

All drivers in Wisconsin must apply for a Wisconsin driver's license within 60 days of establishing Wisconsin residency. Drivers possessing out-of-state licenses can apply for a Wisconsin license by bringing their existing driver's license, proof of identity, proof of residency and their Social Security number. A vision test and fee are required. There are additional requirements to obtain a REAL ID. You can complete your application and prepare for your visit by going through our DL Guide, available at dlguides.wi.gov. See the Department of Transportation website, wisconsindot.gov, for motor vehicle registration and title information as well as other important transportation information.

Vehicle Emission Tests

Most automobiles and light trucks must have an emission inspection once every two years. Testing and registration renewal services are available through select private businesses including repair facilities, service stations and dealerships in the seven-county emissions program area. For the locations of the facilities closest to you, go to: WisconsinVIP.org.

Overnight Parking

Many Milwaukee-area communities restrict overnight parking on their city or village streets. Please check with your local police department to see if any overnight parking restrictions apply.

Licenses

Following is a list of resources for state and local license requirements.

Wisconsin DNR

Wisconsin's Department of Natural Resources (dnr.wi.gov) offers an online, one-stop license center for hunting and fishing licenses through its Go Wild system. To purchase fishing, hunting or trapping authorities, or for online registration service for boats, ATVs, UTVs, snowmobiles, or off-highway motorcycles, as well as permits, stamps and snowmobile trail passes, login to the Go Wild site at gowild.wi.gov to set up an account and access the customer dashboard and catalog. In addition to licenses and fees, Go Wild also provides information regarding safety education classes, off-highway recreational vehicle renewals, harvest reporting for hunters, and well-drilling permits.

Bicycle Licenses

Contact the appropriate local government regarding fees, rules and regulations. Milwaukee residents, see city.milwaukee.gov/bicyclellicenses for specific information for that municipality or contact the City Clerk - License Division at 414-286-2238 or via email at license@milwaukee.gov. Free licenses may also be obtained in person at Milwaukee City Hall, 200 E. Wells Street, Room 105 and at libraries, police stations or local universities.

Dog & Cat Licenses

Most communities require pets to be licensed and limit the number of dogs or cats you can have at your residence without a kennel permit. In the City of Milwaukee, all dogs and cats over the age of five months residing in the city must be licensed annually.

Licensing and fee information is available from the Department of Neighborhood Services at city.milwaukee.gov/dogandcatfees. For online licensing, see licensepet.com/milwaukee.

Licenses can also be obtained from the Milwaukee Area Domestic Animal Control Commission (madacc.org/services.gov), which also provides services for other communities in the region. You may also contact your local treasurer or clerk's office.

Dog Parks

The greater Milwaukee area is definitely pet-friendly, as you'll see firsthand at Fromm PetFest (petfestmke.com), dogsofmke.com/blog, or the Brady Street Pet Parade (bradystreet.org;brady-street-pet-parade/). If you're looking for a comprehensive resource, sign up for a free account at BringFido.com to find pet-friendly hotels, restaurants, activities, events and services in the Milwaukee area, as well as a helpful blog. A number of excellent dog parks are available, offering ample opportunity for exercise, socialization and play. The new MKE Dog Park, to be located between Plankinton Avenue and the Milwaukee River at Clybourn Street, is currently in the works for downtown residents and employees of pet-friendly employers. Also, consider joining Milwaukee Woof Pack (county.milwaukee.gov). Explore our county parks' six off-leash dog parks, explore paved and soft trails or enjoy a day at one of the county's beer gardens with your fur-friend. Check out Woof Pack e-news for doggie news, as well as info on events and contests in the area. Annual and single-day passes are available for purchase online. ## Concealed Carry

Wisconsin is a concealed-carry state, which means law-abiding citizens can apply for a permit to legally carry concealed weapons in certain public areas. For more information on the state's concealed carry regulations, how to obtain a concealed-carry permit, required training and the $40 application fee, please visit the Wisconsin Department of Justice website at concealedcarry.doj.wi.gov.

Voting in Wisconsin

Wisconsin law requires voter registration, which can be done up to 20 days before an election either online at MyVote.Wi.gov or by mail. Online registration is available for eligible voters with a valid State of Wisconsin driver license or ID card issued by the Wisconsin Department of Motor Vehicles (DMV). Voters can also register in-person in their municipal clerk's office up until the Friday before an election or at the polling place on Election Day. If an absentee ballot is needed, visit Vote Absentee at the MyVote website. Voters must complete a registration application if they are new to the state, first-time voters, if their name and/or residence has changed, or if they have not voted in the past four years. Voters must have resided at their current address for at least 28 days prior to an election and must provide an approved proof-of-residence document. Residents already registered to vote in Wisconsin but in need of updating the name and/or address on file, may do so online as well. By law, Wisconsin voters must show an accepted photo ID to receive a ballot for all elections. Learn about Wisconsin's Voter Photo ID Law at BringIt.Wi.gov.

The Wisconsin Elections Commission provides information on voter registration and election law plus resources and links. The MyVote website is the go-to resource for citizens voting in local, state and national elections. It provides election dates and polling sites, and provides sample ballots and absentee ballot requests. For specifics on local elections, see your municipality's website as well. ## Inequity makes zero sense.

Women earn only 83% of what men earn*, with the gap often being worse for women of color. That's more than just frustrating. It prevents women from achieving the success they are capable of. That's why, at Summit, we're championing pay equity, starting within our walls, and even publishing our own pay equity data on our website. When women reach their goals, it's not just women who benefit from more stability, less uncertainty and a better quality of life – we all do.
